Called

“Who hath saved us, and called us with an holy calling, not according to our works, but according to his own purpose and grace, which was given us in Christ Jesus before the world began” (2 Timothy 1:9). Paul wrote these words under divine inspiration and they serve as the basis for this year’s convention theme. A closer examination of this text is warranted as we prepare to hear five messages focusing on this subject.

First, this is a holy calling. It is not of human origin...it is a call from God. It is He who calls us to repent of our sins and follow Him. It is He who calls us to live a life of holiness. He calls us to lay aside our petty differences and strengthen the bonds of unity. It is He for whom we suffer for righteousness sake. He is the focus of the gospel we are called to proclaim.

Paul goes on to remind us that this calling is not according to our works but according to His grace. In other words, there’s nothing we have done to merit or deserve this call. God chooses to use us in spite of our limitations. The basis for God’s call to holiness, unity, suffering, or preaching the gospel is the same as His call to salvation—it’s grace.

Finally, the apostle points out that God calls us according to His own purpose. He is a God of order, purpose, and design. He does not act randomly or arbitrarily. If we are obediently following His calling in our life, it is no accident that we are where He has placed us. If we are fulfilling God’s calling we can rest assured that He is working in our lives to accomplish His purposes and carry out His will, even if we can’t see or understand it.

I invite you to join me in prayer, asking the Lord to use this year’s speakers to call forth laborers into the harvest.

Executive Secretary
