

Randall House Recommended Reading List for Licensure and Ordination Candidates

Many pastors and state leaders recognize the need for more consistency in preparing men for pastoral ministry. In addition to formal education, every pastor needs to cultivate the discipline of regularly reading resources that encourage personal, professional, and spiritual growth. Reading provides a fundamental discipline for every leader. To help instill the discipline of reading in ministerial candidates, Randall House offers recommended resources for candidates pursuing licensing and ordination.

The combined efforts of Free Will Baptist State promotional directors, Free Will Baptist pastors, and Randall House staff, produced comprehensive recommended reading lists for those pursuing pastoral ministry. The two lists help ministerial candidates grow their understanding of Free Will Baptist doctrine, history, practices and polity, theology, apologetics, biblical worldview, pastoral ministry, and the proclamation of God's Word.

There is no shortage of good books to read; these two lists help the reader work through a systematic approach to deepening one's understanding of core subjects as well as developing their ability to rightly divide the Word of God in teaching and preaching. The books and resources recommended in these lists would be helpful for any Christian to read, especially our teachers, leaders, and shepherds. The lists recommend core books that should be on every pastor's shelf and every credentialing committee's list of requirements for candidates pursuing pastoral ministry.

Since this preparation raises the bar for our ministry leaders, Randall House offers the bundle of books at a discount to encourage use.
